

Entertainment

Short description:

The Entertainment collection is a photographic kaleidoscope of Germany's entertainment world from the 1950s to the 2000s.

Full description:

The Entertainment collection is a photographic kaleidoscope of Germany's entertainment world from the 1950s to the 2000s, consisting of images of German TV productions, stars and starlets of stage and screen, musicians, singers, TV personalities, pictures from behind the scenes, as well as Munich's high society from the 1960s to the 1980s.

Cinema Collection

Short description:

The Cinema Collection portrays publicity stills from the world of international cinema from the 1920s to the 2000s.

Full description:

The Cinema Collection portrays publicity stills from the world of international cinema, spanning a history of cinema from the silent movie days to the blockbusters of the 2000s. It includes images that were the inspiration for various film posters.

Retro Travel

Short description:

The Retro Travel collection shows the works of world travelers Walter Rudolph (70s-80s) and Hanna Seidel (50s-60s).

Full description:

The Retro Travel collection shows the works of Walter Rudolph, a tourism photographer who supplied photo agencies worldwide in the 1970s and 1980s. It also contains the work of Hanna Seidel, who worked as a teacher in Argentina. She was a passionate photographer and world traveler, journeying to South America, Japan, India, and the USSR in the 1950s and 1960s.

History

Short description:

The History collection ranges from images of early 20th century hand-colored glass slides to photographic accounts of Germany in the 1920s, 1930s, and 1960s.

Full description:

The History collection consists of images of Carl Simon's hand-colored glass slides that were used for lantern lectures throughout Germany in the early part of the 20th century. It also contains Karl-Heinrich Lämmel's photographic account of Germany in the 1930s, an unparalleled insight into the everyday life of the time. There are also photographs of the city of Cologne and the landscape and people in the Mosel region from the 1920s as well as several historical pictures from private photo albums.